From Out the Old Ashes, a New Image

The 1979-80 school year has been one of renovations, of cold hallways, barricaded stairs, blocked corridors, and lots of noise; and, although it is difficult at present to view the drilling and pounding as a means to an end, it is a fact that, sometime in the future, a new, improved Walpole High School will emerge from beneath the dustcloud.

In essence, therefore, this year has been one of change, with the school undergoing a metamorphosis not unlike that of the seniors who will be leaving for college; without the cloud of dust, hopefully, but with the same awkward uncertainty and the same promise of better things to come. The seniors will not be here to see the completed change in Walpole High School; in their own lives, however, they will see the metamorphosis completed at last; the final transition from high school to adulthood and "the real world." And as they move on to their new lives, Walpole High School, like a Phoenix rising from the ashes, will continue to push more young people forward into the future.

When General Lester Burch appeared on the battle front to replace Mr. Thomas Ries, he had to pick his way through the debris and flying plaster as he planned his strategy for the upcoming campaigns. It wasn't easy re-routing troops to try to outwit the enemy who kept knocking down doors and streaming through windows. But with the help of his two aides, Lt. Harry Graff, and Lt. Elmer Snell, the enemy was finally subdued and were last seen meekly laying carpets, and painting walls.

Guidance in Orbit

At times the guidance department looked like the launching pad at Cape Kennedy where many misguided missiles were blasted off into orbit. The control room, where the control boards are kept, was a real boom in helping many students who were up in the air. The department helped the students go in the direction they wanted. Over the year, the department built an invisible base for a place where students were set back on the right track.

English Dept. branches out

Even without the media center and the video tape machines, the English Department was able to provide a varied and interesting curriculm. The Journalism class went on a field trip to the Boston Globe and the Kennedy Library and have been putting a page in the Walpole Times called the "Rebel Review" as well as putting out the school paper, Rebellion.

The Drama Club put on a successful production of "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man in the Moon Marigolds." There was one field trip to see a play based on Edgar Allen Poe's stories and another one to see a Shakespearean play in the spring.

Next year there will be three new courses offered: Dramatic Literature will introduce students to the classical plays of the Greeks and Romans and playwrights up to the 18th century; Communications Techniques will give students a chance to learn how to make speeches and listen to them critically; advance writing skills will be taught in Ad-Language.

Math Department has moving experience

STRUGGLING TO KEEP AHEAD OF RENOVATIONS, THE MATH DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN ON THE MOVE, CHANGING FROM ONE ROOM TO ANOTHER JUST AS JACKHAMMERS COME THROUGH THE WALLS. NEVERTHELESS, THE DEPARTMENT HAS CONTINUED TO FUNCTION, ALTHOUGH AT TIMES FRANNTIC AND HURRIED. TESTS ARE TAKEN WHILE THE POUNDING OF HAMMERS RATTLE STUDENT'S CHAIRS, AND TEACHERS TRY TO LECTURE OVER THE SCREAM OF HIGH SPEED DRILLS.

BUT ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS OF THE HECTIC YEAR WAS THE OLYMPIAD EXAM, TAKEN TO PLACE MATH STUDENTS STATEWIDE BASED ON THEIR ABILITY. THE TOP SCORER FROM WALPOLE WAS A JUNIOR, JIM TOTTEN, WHO DID WELL ENNOUGH TO RECEIVE A CERTIFICATE OF MERIT FOR HIS PERFORMANCE.

New look in science

Science, like other departments, was affected by pneumatic hammers and splintered beams; however, it managed through a supreme effort of concentration to ignore the confusion to cover prescribed assignments.

What made it all worthwile was the fact that when the dust had settled, the department had gained not only a much-improved environment within which to work, but had acquired a seventh room, one more than last year.

Like every other department Foreign Languages had to duck the wrecking ball while trying to carry on their regular curriculum. That wasn't easy without a language lab, but innovative teachers played tapes of French music in class and kept in the swing of things with such titles as "Dans Mon Hamac"(In My Hammock), and "Tous Les Gargons et Les Gargons et hes Filles"(All the Boys and Girls).

A whole week was dedicated to various speakers who stressed the need of knowing some language other than English. Boston and N.Y. are already bilingual (Spanish) and professionals dealing with other countries are being urged to learn that language for better communications.

Outside of class, activities included trips to Spain and France, and a volley ball competition between the Latin and German Clubs. French classes also enjoyed the play "Le Petit Prince."

Social Studies

The Walpole High School Social Studies Department underwent a dramatic relocation process in the academic year of 1979-1980. Isolated in Plimpton School from the other educational departments, the Social Studies teachers faced the difficult task of coralling students out of the smoking area and into class on time. And although student paces varied from confident stride, to nervous jog, and finally, to "uh-oh" gallop, the faculty demonstrated endless patience.

This year, the Social Studies Department, headed by Mr. Robert Coviello, continued its success with programs including the U. N. Pilgrimage , the AFL-CIO Labor Exam and Contest, and the Century III Current Events Test. The Social Studies Department has also successfully hosted guest speakers from the General Motors Corp. on the subject of Economics.

Once again, this year's P.E. Department kept things organized and under control. This task was not an easy one though, as schedules had to be shuffled because of intensive renovations in the old gym. But by midyear the old gym had become the Correctional Physical Education Room and things were back to normal with after school sports and intramurals occupying much of the teacher's time.

Students Win Awards

The Walpole High Art Department has once again had a very successful year. The renovation of the art rooms provided a boost for both students and teachers.

Also the students proved to be very successful in the Boston Globe's 30th Annual Scholastic Art Awards. Concert Band takes second place

The music department was a credit to its inventors, expanding to suit all interests of music. There was a Rag Band and an orchestra under the direction of Mr. Faulker, a Sax quartet and a clarinet quartet under the direction of Harold Davis, and a Dixieland Band which was run by the students themselves.

Mr. Thomas Mills orchestrated stage Band, concert band , Marching Band, Chorus and with the aid of Gaston Malloi Mark Tarie, Harry Davis, and Mike Faulker small group instruction. The Marching Band improved qreatly in quantity as well as quality with the concert band following suit. Of the 20 participants in the Southeast Massachusetts School Band-Masters' Association, 15 were accepted. The marching band also joined the competition entering several fields.

Some new creations of Mr. Mills were music History and the Madrigals. Music History is a class for students interested in the subject but who are not neces sarlily musically talented. The Madrigals was a previous group reactivited during the late winter.

Business as usual

The Business Department was one of the few that did not have to change any of its typing classes to move around renovations. Instead, renovations revolved around the classes. Despite the fact that there were jackhammers drilling and every smell concievable, the department managed to obtain a brand new memory typewriter which will be a major improvement for the department.

Although there have not been many changes in the Business Department, with the exception of the school store, there have been some improvements. The main one made was a change in the content of the courses. These were made to help the student to decide for him/herself what is best for their future. Also a new shorthand lab will be installed.

D.E.C.A. received a brand new school store because of renovations which helped with the profits. The school store sold more things such as; gym equipment, the Walpole Times, Kleenex, stuffed animals and stationery.

Positive moves in Industrial Arts

Shop classes survived the year despite extreme difficulties. The students were working through the renovations and still producing items ranging from tee shirts of the Who, to complicated clocks that could drive the simplest craftsman out of his constructive mind.

Progress in the wood shop was slow at the beginning of the winter as heating problems had the students hammering in the cold and cutting in the heat. The staff however, kept the apprentice craftsmen in line through the heat crisis and the constant ringing of the bells.

Only will power and the urge to move on to completion kept the 79-80 Industrial Arts students on the move which will prove as a benefit to achieving the goals they seek in the future.

Home Economics finds home on the range

This year the Home Economics Department played the role of a western chuck wagon, as it roamed the barren prairies of flat plains of arid plaster halls and cacti-like scaffolding. Ultimately the long trek ended as they set up their permanent camp amidst the panoramic splendor of the yellows, greens and oranges of the new Home Economics rooms.

Besides cooking and sewing, Home Economics includes Child Development, Physcology, and Family Living which deals with parenthood and the needs of young adults living on their own.

The new 'hand' added to the department, Mrs. Patricia Doherty, teaches foods, Physcology, Family Living and clothing. The wagon master of the whole expedition is Mrs. Gloria White. Bringing up the rear, Mr. David Pruitt, the single male cow hand, keeps the whole scene from being labeled 'bullish'.

Students learn and earn in work study

With about 70% of the students working in the Walpole area many are active in both the General Work Study, headed by Mr. Peter Turco, and the Business Co-op Program supervised by Ms. Judith Sjolund. There were stricter regulations this year: a student could not be absent, tardy, or dismissed more than three times per term or he/she would fail the course.

Students work at least 15 hours a week at a job which will hopefully prepare them for their future. Mr. Turco and Ms. Sjolund regularly check up on each student at their job to keep aware of each student's progress.

IBM

The IBM Room has been on the move shuffling heavy equipment as renovations made parts of the room unuseable. Despite these inconveniences, the department has managed to handle an even greater work load than in previous years. Mr. Foley, the school's IBM genius, said that this year was especially busy in terms of surveys such as, the Athletic Committee Survey and the Curriculum Needs Assesment Survey. All of this was in addition to normal activities such as, grades, attendance, and budget processing.

Officers have active year

Sophomore, junior, and senior class officers had an active year tending to their respective responsibilities. The sophomores were kept busy urging their classmates to pay their class dues.

Officers of the junior class were busy planning the prom. They organized a magazine sale, which proved successful, along with the annual Valentine's Day carnation sale.

The senior class officers sponsored the "50's Day and Dance" along with the Senior Class Play. They were also active collecting class dues for their class trip and their graduation. It was a busy and prosperous year for all of the class officers.

Radio Station Gets New Room

Renovations this year brought classroom interruptions, absurd noise levels, and, on the positive side, a brand new radio station.

The original WSRB room on the 3rd floor of building A was re-located in what was Mr. Mills' office near the band room. The new room is a vast improvement over the former one with acoustical ceiling tile, wall-to-wall carpeting and other sound-proofing devices. The room also boasts central air conditioning, the only room in the school to enjoy it apart from the central offices. In addition to the orginal equipment, the station has also received some new equipment from station WBCN.

Because of the great interest of sophomores in the station, the staff grew from 14 to 25.

The newly-elected officers for '81 are: Station manager: Christ Lawrence, asst. mgr.: Karen McEachern, Program director: Barbara Doumaney, Asst. Program Director: Joe Tomm, Shift Director: Agnes Lynch.

Math Club

The math club had a lot of problems this year starting with the fact that Mrs. Juncewicz,the math club advisor, was out for a long period of time due to her mother's illness. Mr. Green took over for her while she was out.

Another problem ,as in other years, was the limited number of students that were involved in the club. There were only four seniors,led by president Diane Saba,about five juniors and a varying number of sophomores(a lot more signed up than showed up at the meets.)

The high scorers of the season were John Parquette,Dan Hankins and Tom Dumphy.

Aviation Club

From time to time you may have seen a suspicious looking craft hovering over Walpole High and dipping its wings periodically. If you trained your binoculars on the white single-engined Cessna 172, you would recognize the student pilot as John Hilterman, president of the Aviation Club at WHS. Clutching the seat in front of him is the "Red Baron" Mr. Robert Toran, advisor of the club trying to be nonchalant about the whole thing. Squinting through the steamed-up rear window, Rick Rockwood trains his Nikon FM on familiar sights below. Using his infra-red film, he is trying to determine heat losses so he can pass on the information to Rockwood insulators.

The Aviation Club has had upwards of 10 members who have taken periodic flights out of Norwood Airport to follow flight patterns around Walpole and its environs. The longest trip taken was a navigational triangle plotted by John Hilterman who sat in the co-pilot's seat during the trip from Norwood Airport, to Plymouth, to Mansfield and back to Norwood.

John Hilterman, president of the club, was a natural for the office since he is co-owner with his dad of a glider kept at Northeastern Gliderport at Salem, N.H. John earned his glider pilot's license at age 14 and hopes to enter Annapolis or the Air Force Academy upon graduating. P.S. There was one other officer of the club...who else? Walpole High Publications Moves into High Gear

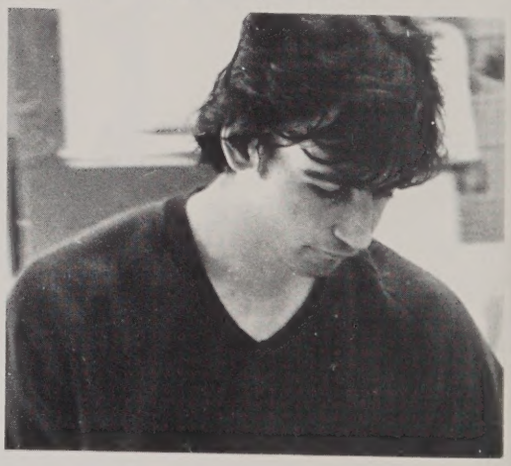
Joe Hand, editor of Rebellion, is first editor to put out eight issues



The W.H.S. Publications was something of a self-sustaining business that made its way into the pages of the telephone directory this year. It was something of a prestigious effort that included the Rebel yearbook, the Rebellion, school newspaper, the Labyrinth, creative writing the Reb/Mag and the Rebel Review, a once-a-month student page in the Walpole Times. The editors and staff of these publications were all students of Mr. Schnorbus' classes.

Needless to say, when the classes were moved from their room adjoining the darkroom to accomodate renovations, the synchrony of the program was interrupted and virtually came to a standstill.

Fortunately, no deadlines were missed. Eight issues of the Rebellion hit the stands, eight Rebel Reviews appeared in the Times, and the yearbook got its 100 pages on April 1. It was the first time the yearbook staff had done a camera-ready yearbook, including halftones.

Foreign Language Club Tours France and S

France

On April 16, 17 Walpole French students chaperoned by teachers Charlotte Cole and Floy Miller journeyed to Paris, France for a 10 day tour of the city with visits to Versailles and Saint Cloud. Among the many famous places visited, were the Eiffel Tower and Louvre, which is the largest museum in the world, and contains the Mona Lisa and Venus de Milo.

The students felt the most enlightening part of the trip was the day spent at a French High School where they agreed the French school was more liberal than Walpole High School. For instance, the students were allowed to smoke in the halls between classes and they had a two hour lunch.

One student wrapped up the trip by saying, "It was rewarding to see what other people are like and to share in their culture."

Bridging the Generation Gap

Obviously the Intergenerational Club never heard of the generation gap which was proved by their activities with the residents at Charwell House in Norwood.

Some of these activities included a Halloween Party, where young and old alike came to bob for apples and share ghost stories. They also brought a lot of Christmas Spirit to the residents at the Christmas Party while they sang Christmas Carols and decorated the tree.

Although there was a temporary cancellation of the club due to student misconduct things got moving again. The members of the Intergenerational Club were dedicated and did a good job of closing the gap between the two generations.

It was a satisfying experience for both age groups.

National Honor Society's Induction

The National Honor Society held its annual induction ceremony on April 29, 1980 at 8:00 p.m. This year eighteen juniors were inducted at the candlelight ceremony. Each student was chosen for certain outstanding qualities: scholarship, leadership, service and character.

Each of four seniors spoke on one of the following qualities: "Scholarship", Julie Marrinucci; "Service", Sabine Rockett; "Character", Sheila Ryan; "Leadership", Steve Parente.

Mr. Lester Burch was guest speaker for the night with Paul Groak, President of the Honor Society, as Master of Ceremonies.

Drama Club - 'The Walpole Players'

The Walpole Players had a busy, but very exciting and enriching year. In October, 9 people were cast for Paul Zindel's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-on-the-Moon Marigolds." The "double-cast," all-female play was performed on January 11, 12, and 13 in the WHS Auditorium, with one cast performing one night, and the other the remaining two. In early February, John Fredricksen, director of the Walpole Players, chose four out of the nine actresses to perform an edited version of "Marigolds" in the Massachusetts High School Theatre Festival. February was spent in preparation for the competition; seven, exhausting, back-to-back performances were given (one each period) for WHS students, a performance was given for the faculty, and the play was also presented at both East and West Junior Highs.

March first was the regional competition, held at Belmont High School. The Walpole Players placed fourth, which qualified them for the semi-finals that were to be held two weeks later. On March 15, in the semi-finals at South Hadley High School, the Walpole Players placed first, qualifying them for the finals .

The finals were held at the John Hancock Building at the Dorothy Quincy Suite on March 28 and 29, and the top 14 out of 83 high-school theatre groups competed there. The Walpole Players performed "Marigolds" on Friday for an audience of 1600 people, and anxiously enjoyed the rest of the drama-filled weekend. Despite the fact that the Players gave what was called "their best performance ever," they failed to place either first or second, the only two categories. Their morale wasn't dampened, however; they considered it "quite an accomplishment" to have gotten as far as they did. The Players noted that during the entire weekend, "the spirit of festivity far outweighed the spirit of competition."

The Walpole Players' spring play was "Friends and Changes," four one-act plays, including "Humulus the Mute," "The Loviest Afternoon of the Year," "The Fourposter," and "I'm Herbert." After only three weeks of constant practice and intricate technical work, the show was presented May 13, 14, and 15 in Plimpton School.

It was an evening late in May when Rome came back to life for Walpole's Latin Club. The event began on the upper field, where the annual slave auction was held. After the auction the foot races were held, with Dana Stearns and Beth Mahoney the winners.

The chariot races were the next event and despite a three chariot pile up and stitches, Latin II was the winner.

A festive banquet followed and then it was time for Match Game.

All in all the evening with the Romans was a success.

Cheerleaders spark School Spirit

To kick off the cheering season, the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders attended cheering camp in East Hampton. They went for five days at the end of August. It proved to be a great asset as they picked up many new cheers and ideas to add to their old ones.

The fall squad was captained by two girls, Diana Sullivan (captain) and Denise Goyette (co-captain). Aside from their cheering duties, the squad also made efforts to encourage school spirit. One way was having a pep rally. With the help of the band and Principal Burch's inspiring 'talk' the task was accomplished.

As well as practicing for games, the girls were hard at work on perfecting their cheers for the big competition which was held at Framingham High on November 16. Last year the girls placed 2nd , however, this year the girls did not place in the top three but were well supported by faculty, various sports teams, friends and parents.

The winter squad was basically the same with the exception of five girls who replaced those girls leaving for winter sports or jobs. There were three captains of this squad: Mary Cameron, Wendy Campbell and Kelly Cuomo. The varsity traveled to all basketball games as the junior varsity cheered only for the home games. The same policy applied to hockey games; the home games were held at Babson College.

Rebel "D" prepares for combat

The group of young men who traveled to Camp Wono in Brewster had some strange resemblance to a seedling in a forest. They were young and green with an insatiable desire to grow. And grow they did!

Rooted by the stingy "Rebel Crush" defense that allowed only 64 points in ten games and shut out five teams, there grew a stem to the Rebel plant; an offense.

Led by seniors Bob Kelley and Dan Perella who anchored a line that enabled running back Jim McKay to shatter all school records by scoring 86 points and 14 touchdowns, the offense began to bloom. Players such as Andy Zitoli, Jeff Copes, Rick Cleveland, and Gary Gravina also blossomed as the year progressed. By season's end John Moore had quarterbacked a unit that had piled up 25 points or more in games against Attleboro, Braintree, Framingham South and Dedham.

But like a plant, as the stem grows so grow the roots. Seniors Bob Hood, Troy Farnell, and Eric Midttun, along with tri-captains Mike Cuomo, Tim Brady, and Eric Swansburg, spearheaded the staunch Rebel defense that seldom faltered.

As the year went on, the Rebel plant grew on. Nourished by the wisdom of head coach John Lee, they fumbled only twice, to Norwood and Natick. But all in all, the plant that became the 1979 Walpole High School Rebel Football Team grew high and strong and stands tall amongst the most successful teams in Walpole High's history.

Porkers enjoy 18 shutouts

This year's Porkers finished off their season with a 3-2 overtime loss to Bishop Stang in the first round of the state tournament. They had the opportunity to enter the tourney by only losing 1 game to Norwood during the regular season.

The Porkers started off the season with two shut-outs against Wellesley and Norwood. They continued on with their winning streak after a tie with Dedham. Thirteen of their eighteen games were shut-outs with only seven points scored against the defense.

Three Porkers were named to the Bay State League All Star list: senior Sheila Ryan, outstanding fullback, juniors Roberta Hutchinson, goalie, and Lisa D'Amadio, center. Lisa was also the leading scorer in the league and broke the school scoring record. Another one of her achievements was being named to The Boston Globe's All Scholastic Team.

The Field Hockey Team was awarded championship jackets at their annual banquet during January.

Although the team got off to a poor start, Coach Curtis Smith was optimistic about next year because his team is made up mostly of juniors and sophomores who will hopefully help to lead the team to future wins.

Disappointing Campaign

Mike dribbles to the basket

Night after night the Walpole Rebels basketball team went out against a tough Bay State League opponent, but they just couldn't come up with their first victory. Although the task sometimes seemed inconquerable the boys still fought and clawed for every basket. The major problem for Walpole was the lack of height. The tallest player for Walpole was 6'1, while other opponents were 6'5 and taller. Next years squad however, shows promise because of some talented J.V. players.

Skiers enjoy sun and snow in Canada

Since the snow didn't come to Walpole, Walpole High School skiers went to the snow.

On February 18, forty students accompanied by two chaperones left for a 9-hour bus ride to Canada. Accomodations were made for a 5-day stay at the Holiday Inn situated in Quebec. Breakfast and supper were served to the students along with free use of the swimming pool and sauna.

The skiers started their day with a 7:30 breakfast followed by a half an hour bus ride to Mont Saint-Anne Ski Resort. The degree of the slopes ranged from the bunny hill to experts trails and the students skied the appropriate slopes according to their ability.

After a 7:00 supper, students were free to do as they pleased. Their night life consisted of going to nearby clubs, swimming or resting their weary bones.

The students returned to Walpole on February 23 with memories of a successful trip.

Early season hopes ran high as a veteran Rebel squad stunned crown hopefuls, Dedham 4-1 and Braintree 7-4.

The Rebels were then dealt a blow by Norwood 8-1. This was the start of the Rebel's trouble by dropping three tying two and salvaging only one win. This left the Rebels 3-4-2 at the halfway mark with an upcoming confrontation with Norwood still remaining.

Over the next four games the Rebels dropped one but soundly defeated Norwood 3-1. The squad then slumped by dropping three in a row, but picked up two late season wins, including a 9-3 finale against Framingham North.

This squad was led by standouts such as Co-captains Charles Consentino and George Nixon, Scott Manty and Timothy Brady.

The Rebels also got consistent help from David Benson, Rich Daniels and Jim McKay to name a few.

The nets were guarded by seniors James O'Connell and Jay Kelley with junior Charles Grant seeing some action.

Powder Puff power plays

On Saturday, November 17, at 1:30 p.m. roles were reversed when some uninhibited male chauvanists shed their masculine skin and slipped into something a little more feminine while the girls became unreasonable facsimiles of Lee's Rebels. It was the annual Powder Puff football game played on Turco Field to a modest crowd huddled in the stands.

Profits from the game(if there were any) went to the Senior Class.

The heroine of the day was Pam Fay, who was carried for a gain of 20 yards by the buxom beauties.

Juniors Dave Burns and Brian Ahern did very well this season. Dave Burns played center field with a batting average of .311 and led the team in triples. Brian Ahern led the team in stolen bases and pitched with four wins and four losses.

The team, coached by Penny Calf, enjoyed strong performances by seniors: Anna Carpentiero, Sheila Ryan, Erin Foley, and Gina Cataloni.

Next year the team hopes to make a much better showing with half of their starters returning and enjoying reenforcements from the j.v. players who had a very successful season.

Girls' Tennis

The Girls' Tennis team, led by co-captains Mary Cameron and Linda Nixon, finished up this year's season with a 5-13 record. Perhaps the best match was Walpole's second victory over Dedham. Karen Nixon won 6-0,6-0 and the teams of Susan Slade and Sandy Allison (6-4,6-1) and Ann Marie McGrail and Jill Hanson (6-2,6-1) were also successful.

Although a 5-13 record does not seem spectacular, it is an improvement over last year's record. Even though the Rebels, coached by Tony Greene, did not win every match, there was team spirit and dedication which made every player a winner.

Golf Team places third in Bay State

This year's golf team was off to an early start when they became a fall sport instead of the traditional spring sport. Despite this change, the team wrapped up its season with a third-place tie in the Bay State League.

They opened their season with an impressive win over Natick, and continued their streak throughout the next three games. After a close game with Norwood, which ended in a disappointing loss, the team succeeded in chalking up their fifth and final win over Framingham South. The team strayed from their winning ways in the following two games against Wellesley and Needham, and forfeited their last game against Framingham North.

Leading the Rebel Golfers throughout the season were co-captains, Senior Scott Mike and Junior, William Cropper.

Not an easy year for track

Although the 79-80 track team did not have an impressive record, Mr. Rock seemed rather pleased, "We're a young team. We did well. This was our building up year; next year will hopefully be better than this year. We hope to win three or four meets."

In this year's State Class C meet, Walpole tied for 16t out of 69 teams, thanks to the efforts of seniors Jim McKay, 3rd in Javelin and record setting Mike Cuomo who placed 3rd in discus.

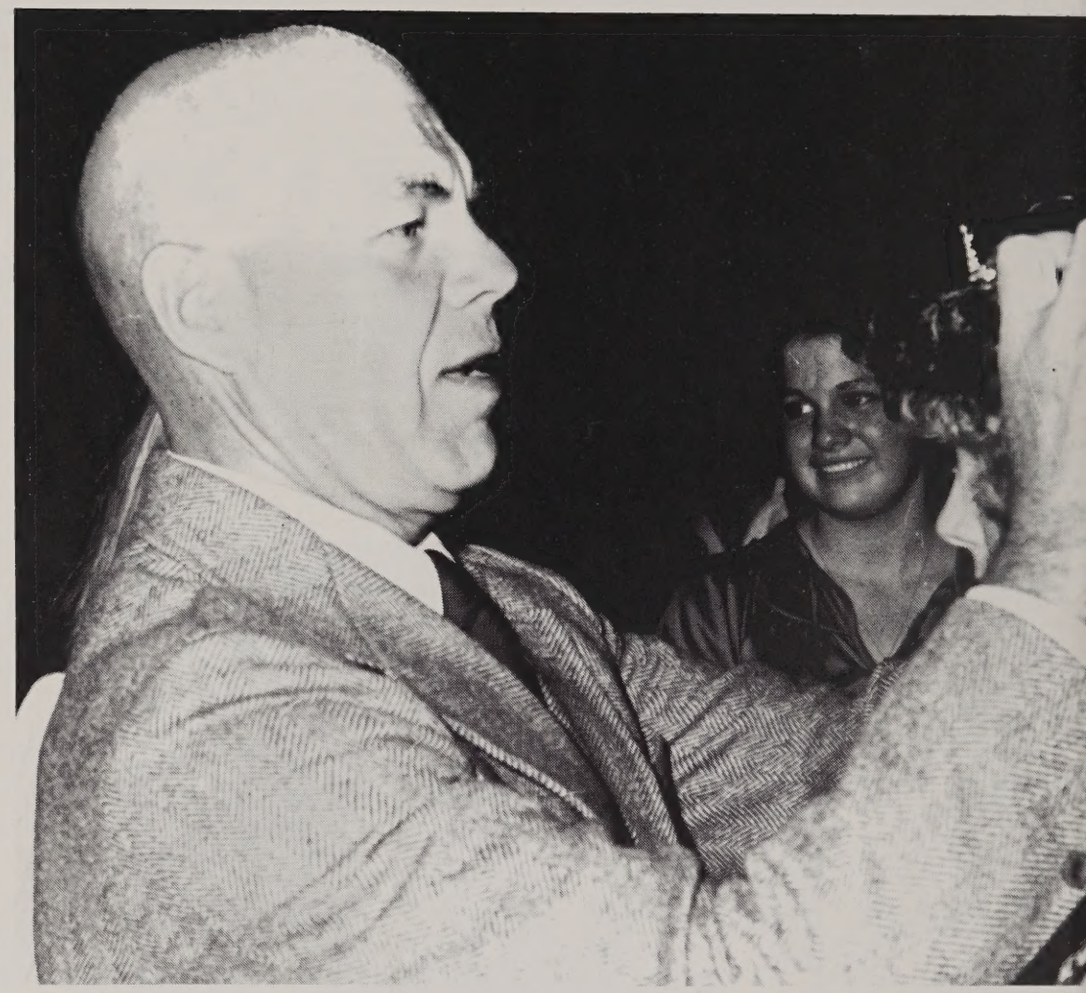
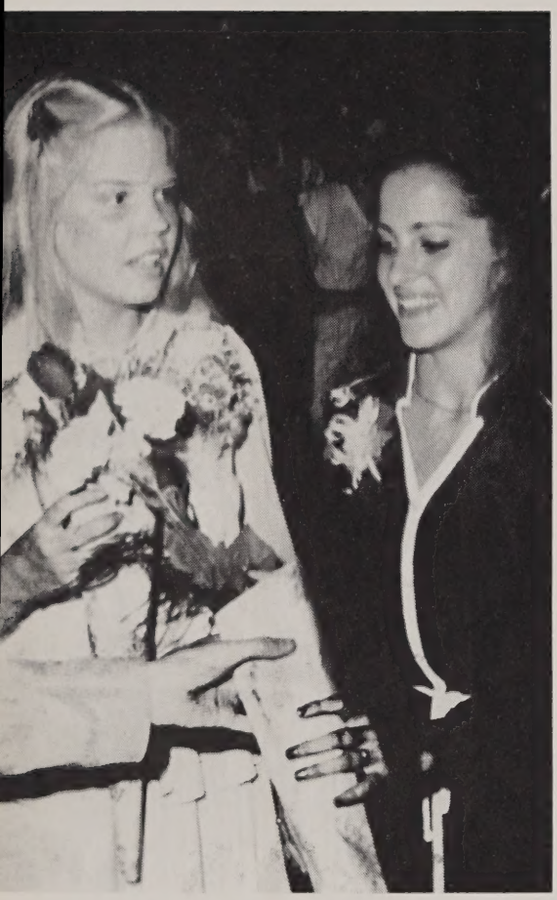
Coach Lee performs his annual crowning ceremony with the 1979 queen, Elaine Coburn.

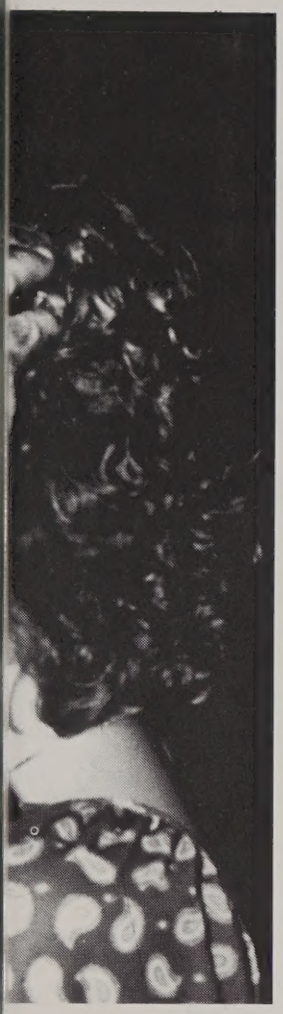




First and second runners up, Donna Rossi and Beth McCarthy receive their boquets of flowers.

The queen and her escort, Dan Parella

Loses Lustre



On the night of October 23, the Student Council held its annual Autumn Queen Dance in the school gymnasium.

Seven nominees wereselected: Diane Betro, Cathy Carleton, Elaine Coburn, Susan Hall, Andrea Johnson, Beth McCarthy, and Donna Rossi.

Beth McCarthy was chosen second runner up and Donna Rossi first runner up. At 10 p.m., Elaine Coburn was crowned Autumn Queen, 1979, by Coach John Lee.

Unfortunately, everything did not go as well as past Autumn Queen Dances. Approximately 150 people showed up as compared to past years when over 300 people attended. When the time came to announce the queen and her court, the announcer failed to call the escourts up with them. After the queen was crowned, everyone waited for the queen and her escourt, Dan Parella, to dance. But they never did. Finally, no pictures were taken of the queen and her court, either.

Hopefully, a lot of the pomp and circumstance of previous Autumn Queen Dances will once again make the gala affair something to look forward to.

Rally Round the Flag, Boys!

On March 13 and 14 the senior class presented the play, "Rally 'Round the Flag Boys." The play concerns the sleepy town of Putnam's Landing, Conn. after the citizens of that town have been informed that the U.S. Army plans to build a missile base in the center of some prime real estate. The conflict occurs when the soldiers from the base move in on the local girls and leave the local males alone and angry.

Tension mounts when a real fight between the soldiers and the boys turns into a free for all during the Centennial pageant.

The principals and supporting actors, directed by Mr. Guenter Vilbig, put on a very acceptable performance.

Donkey Basketball

The S.P.C.A. enjoyed sweet revenge on April 3, when the lowly burro dominated the courts before a near-capacity crowd in the gym.

The annual event pitted teachers against sophomores, juniors against seniors, and in the elimination finals, the teachers against the juniors. It is rumored that the teachers won, but, in fact, it was our fleet four-footed friends who emerged the victors. With a vengeance 'Honey Pot', one of the more independent donkeys, threw 'Pa Page' for a half-gainer. When he came to, he was staring at the walls in the emergency ward at Norwood Hospital.

That was the only casualty, fortunately, as John (Monday) Conaty, petite Kay Martin, and the bronco buster, James Gable, walked away from the final contest, unscathed.

On December 7 the students and teachers donned poodle skirts and saddle shoes; they slicked their hair back into D.A.'s and put on leather jackets, for Walpole High's first 50's day.

That night the "greasers and bobbysoxers" were invited to stroll and jitterbug to songs like 'Rock Around the Clock' and 'Blueberry Hill.'

Costumes were judged by a panel of judges composed of student and faculty members. The awards went to:

Large crowds of family, friends and out-of-towners appeared from out of the woodworks to attend the annual presentation of the "Gymnaestrada." It was a real opportunity for the gymnastics team and other agile souls to show off a variety of talents and contortions. It turned out to be the "greatest show on earth" for the crowd.

The show played to sell-out crowds on Thursday, and Friday evenings, March 27 & 28. As always the climax of the evening was the impressive tableaux of gilded men depicting highlights of world events.

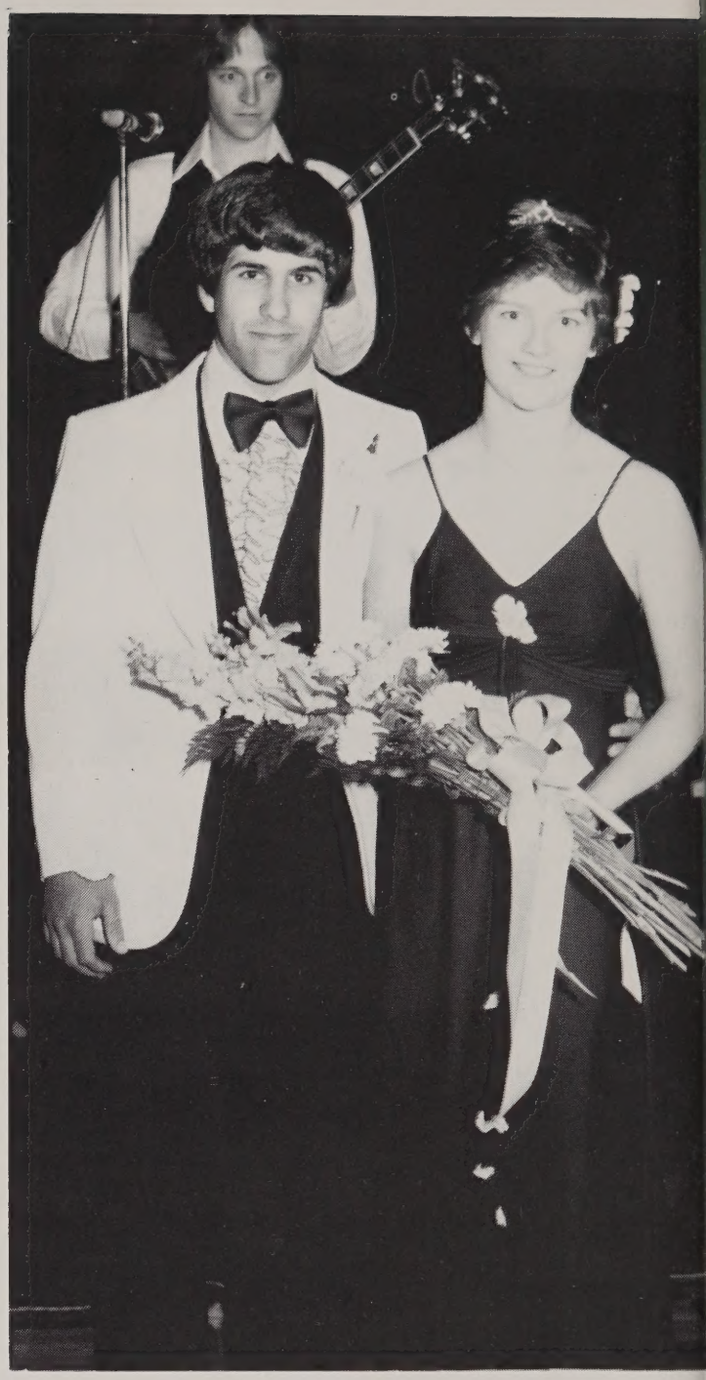
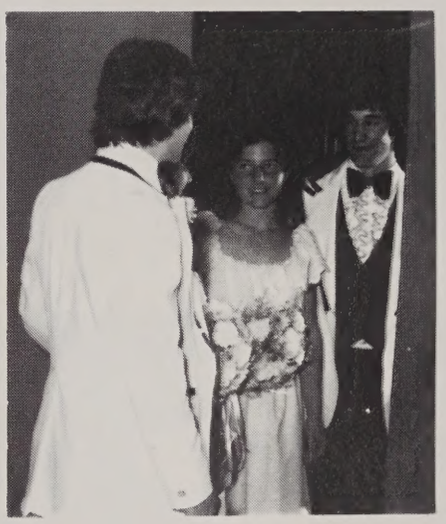
Prom theme--
'Precious and Few'





"Precious & Few" was the theme of this year's Junior/Senior Prom held at the Chateau de Ville in Randolph on April 23. Erin Foley, Prom Queen, was selected by members of the Malloi Band from five candidates selected by the faculty. Erin, attended by her court, Debbie Byrnes, Mary Cameron, Dyanne Hope, and Beth McCarthy, was crowned by principal Lester Burch at the climax of the evening.

"Which way do we go?"

On Thursday, May 28th at 7:30 a.m. the seniors anxiously gathered at Blackburn Memorial Hall to await their 2-hour journey to Frank Davis Resort in Moodus, Connecticut.

When they arrived, the seniors were overwhelmed by the size of the grounds.

They were greeted by a man called Coo-Coo (a very appropriate name). He explained the layout of the land acted as M.C. for most of the events that day.

The activities of the day consisted of swimming, canoeing, rowboating, tennis, softball, baseball, basketball, volleyball, ping pong, waterskiing, horseback riding and relay races.

In the swimming event Walpole stole the competition when Sue Hall walked away with most of the cowbells.

In canoeing the Rebels reached the semi-finals but never made the finals.

There were five other schools at the resort that shared the grounds with WHS.

As the seniors returned to Walpole, they cheirshed the day past and dreamt of welcoming the graduation that lay ahead.

Nite of Music and Dance

The Music Department presented the annual Pop's Nite on May 16, 1980.

The night's music was provided by the Stage and Concert Bands, the Rag Time and Dixie Land Bands, and the Chorus.

The Concert Band's performance of "Mars," the student directing of the bands, and the presentation of gifts to the chaperones of the band tour, were the highlights of the night.

The night ended with the annual playing of "Feelings" by the Stage Band.

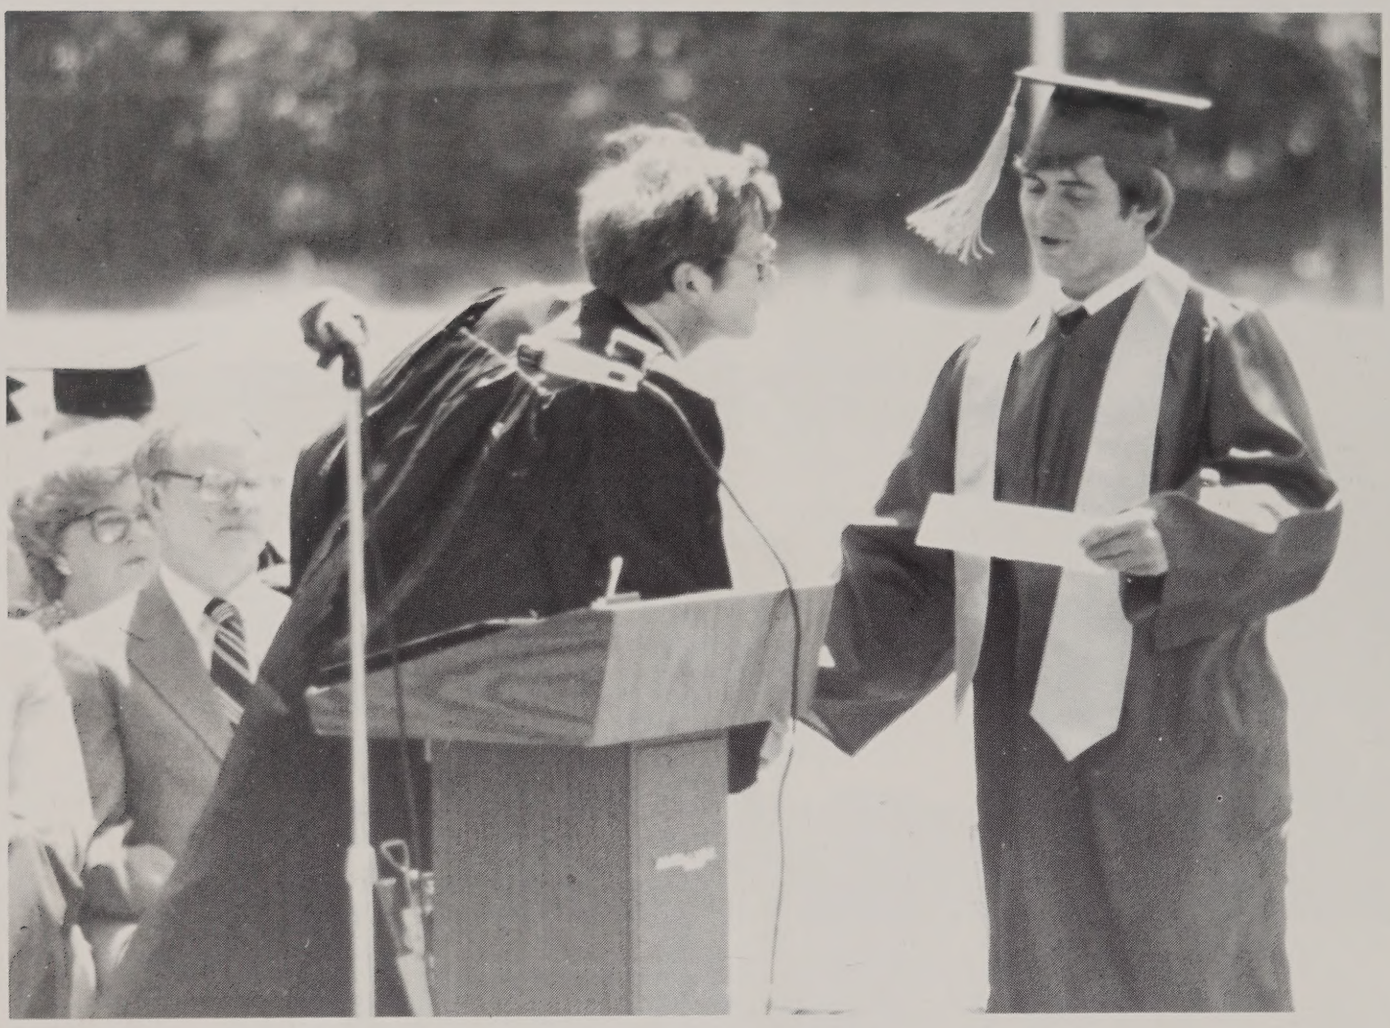
Cherish the Past Welcome the Future



As the new decade of the 1980's commences, the United States finds itself embroiled in the center of political conflict throughout the world. The dangerous crisis in U.S. worldwide diplomacy reverberates across two major fronts: in the suspense of the Tehran embassy siege and the failed attempt to rescue the hostages, and in the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Yet as dismal as the current situation may appear, we should not give up hope for our future.

"Students must be given a diploma in one hand, symbolizing knowledge and wisdom, and a voter registration card in the other, symbolizing power and responsibility."

The rapid series of events in Afghanistan stand as a grim reminder that it is not the American hostages in Iran that are the central object of U.S. foreign policy, but rather the potentially life-and-death relationship with the Soviet Union...

As we leave here today, we see the start of a new decade which holds many promises but also many problems. The concern and involvement of our generation are the important factors that will bring about change in hopes to solve these problems. Our thought is the seed of action that can shape our future for the better. So as we take the step ahead into the 1980's and into the future, I urge you all to take this step with the will to succeed.

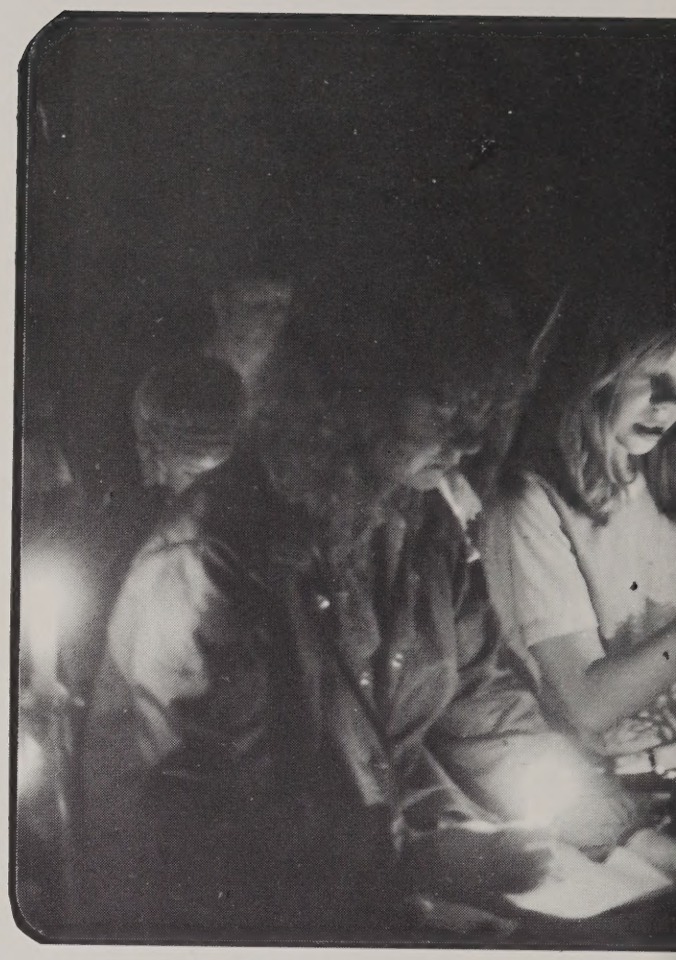
The mountains surrounding Camp Calumet



On Monday May 19, under the watchful, but tearful eyes of their parents, 94 sixth graders departed for Camp Calumet. Calumet, in Freedom, New Hampshire became home for the students and their seventeen counsellors during the "Outdoor Education Week." During the week, the students, many who had never been away from home, learned to canoe, climb a mountain and orienteer.

Although the aim was to learn more about the environment, learning about each other became the main objective. By the end of the week most students were pleased with the results. As for the 17 counsellors, they too were pleased but exhausted. All agreed it was worth it though.
